A Mill's Name Charged.

The directors of the Æma Iron and Nail Company have procured a change in the corporate name of the company to the Æma Iron and Steel Company. The object of the change is to rid the name of a misleading element, and cause it to accord with the nature of the company's business—nails not being made at the works, but soft steel forming a part of their product. The change in name does not involve changes in any other respect.

THE LAST LECTURE

attern of Minor Moment in and About th IN THE BISHOP'S LENTEN COURSE

tion of God-Unity of the Human Race Maintained-Genesia a Literal Nurrative - Science vs. Revelation

In the sixth and last lecture of Lenten course, delivered in the Cathedral vesterday afternoon, Bishop Kain treated the several subjects bearing on the origin of man, the unity of the human race, and the chief difficulties alleged against the Bible records. The attendance was ever larger than usual. The soul of Adam, the Bishop argued was the immediate creation of God; and uch, too, is every human soul. The errors of Pantheists and others were exposed, and the Scripture proofs of the Christian doctrine expounded.

The Bishop then proceeded to defend The Bishop then proceeded to defend the literal interpretation of Genesis which teaches that Adam's body was formed (and the Bishop maintained directly and immediately) by God out of the alime of the earth. Whilst the opinion of even a few Catholic scientists that Adam's body was not suddenly but gradually formed out of the pre-existing matter of the earth, may possibly be admitted, yet it is contrary to what seems to be the clear statement of Holy Writ, and the teachings of the great body of Catholic theologians. Allied to this opinion, yet very different from it, is the theory of those extreme evolutionists who consider the human body as only the fully and most perfectly developed body of some lower animal.

This theory the Bishop combated most strenuously, citing a host of first-class scientists in refutation of the arguments advanced in its favor by Huxley and others.

advanced in its favor by Huxley and others.

He denied the competence of science to judge of the similarity of life-germs, which may indeed appear under the most periest instruments to be absolutely alike, but which are proved to be different in the different beings thence developed. That there are marked, nay, essential, differences in the organism of man and every other known animal, infidels themselves are forced to admit; and they have sought in vain among all fosell remains for evidences of the "missing-link" which science demands to bridge the chasm between man and any other known species SCIENCE INCAPABLE. ween man and any other known species animal.

Divine Revelation teaches that all men Divine Revelation teaches that all men are descended from Adam; hence all are in need of the Redemption through Christ. This fundamental doctrine of christianity has been impugned by the pre-Adamites, who have taught that human beings existed long before Adam and Eve; and by the co-Adamites, who have held the creation of other human beings at the same time that Adam was created. After citing the scripfural proofs of the christian doctrine, the Bishop discussed the difficulty of accounting for the marked differences both anatomical and linguistic that exist between the various races of men, within the comparatively brief period assigned by the Bible.

AN IMPORTANT CASE

Handle Bridge.

Judge Okey Johnson, of the Supreme Court, has granted a writ of error in the case of the State of West Virginia against the P., C. & St. L. R. R. Co. This company owns a bridge over the Ohio river at Steubenville, which the Board of Public Steubenville, which the Board of Fuble Works assessed at $315,000. The railroad company refused to pay the tax assessed at that valuation and brought the matter before Judge John J. Jacob, of the Oircuit Court of Brooke county, who after a spirited contest over the matter between the attorney of the road and the Attorney General of the State, reduced the valuation to $355,000. the squall cost of building the eral of the State, reduced the valuation to $150,000, the actual cost of building the bridge. From this decision the railroad company appealed, claiming first, that if the bridge is to be taxed at all it should be at the same valuation as any other like distance of their road; and second, that the State of West Virginia cannot tax a bridge built over the Ohio river, being a stream wholly under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Government.

ABOUT STEEL,

Some Observations by "Dold Short"—An Analysis of Steel.

home in Clarksburg Saturday.

Hon. John A. Hutchinson, of Parkersburg, is to deliver an address at Point Pleasant, May 3, on the subject of "Republican Ideas; True and False." In his letter in the latest issue of the Age of Steel Mr. P. H. Moore says: Twenty-one tons of dynamite, that is to be used for blasting on the Point Pleasant extension of the Ohio River road, has been started away on Blennerhassett's Island. Vrought and east iron are being rapidly displaced and tin is being strongly threatened, sheet steel proving an improvement are of the opinion that a heavy vein of coal can be found at no great depth in that vicinity, and funds for the test are being on either iron or tin for roofing purposes Its capabilities and susceptibilities are, as yet, 1 am of the opinion, but measurably defined. Experiment is bringing it into new uses at short intervals, and nearly every essay seems to be an improvement. In this connection it is claimed that Besemer steel plate is susceptible of a temper approximating to that, for edge carrying qualities of musket steel or a fair quality. the hope of benefiting her rapidly falling health. per approximating to that, for edge carrying qualities, of musket steel or a fair quality of tool steel. While I am on this aubject I would like to call the attention of experts to a fact which may be interesting if not singular to them. Frof. Dwight, of Wheeling, showed me the result of an analysis of Clapp-Griffiths steel, made by him. The samples acted on were both nails and bars of No. 1 quality in every respect. The showing was 5-10 of 1 percent of phosphorus; carbon, 1-10; manganese, 4-10; sulphur, .06. Bessemer requirements are 1-10 of 1 percent of phosphorus arbon, manganese and sulphur same as the Clapp-Griffiths given above, and old iron nails of the very best make find quality show from 3-10 to j of 1 percent of phosphorus. The point to be ascertained is wherein arises the difference in the phosphorus requirements, or are there a contries in table of bastardy, the complainant being Miss Nancy Naylor. He was taken to St. Clairsville and held by 'Squire Davies in the sum of $300, in default of which he went to jail.

The residence of John Duff, four and a half miles west of Martin's Ferry, caught fire Saturday afternoon in some unknown manner, and was totally destroyed with most of its contents. The house was a two-story frame, and was valued at about $1.000 $1,200. The proposition to subscribe $25,000 by the county of Wirt, to the C., P. & N. rail-road (Black Diamond), has been submit-ted by the County Court to the people for ratification or rejection, and May 18 fixed as the day on which the sense of the peo-ple on the question is to be taken. is wherein arises the difference in the phosphorus requirements, or are there a series of medial steps, the proportions of which must be rigidly adhered to to make the steel valuable, or must the silicon be almost entirely eliminated to provide for the differentiation of phosphorus, the integrity of the steel otherwise remaining undiaturbed, or is not phosphorus made too much of a bug-a-boo after all.
